Traffic authorities set local speed limits in situations where local needs and considerations deem it desirable for drivers to adopt a speed which is different from the national speed limit. Local speed limits could be reduced or increased, depending upon the conditions and evidence. This publication contains guidance on the setting of all local speed limits on single and dual carriageway roads in both urban and rural areas. It should also be used at the basis for future assessments of local speed limits, for developing route management strategies, and for developing the speed management strategies required as part of the Local Transport Plan process. Traffic authorities are asked to review the speed limits on all of their A and B roads, and to implement any necessary changes by 2011 in accordance with this guidance.
